28 Television Programs	Talking about actions happening in the past, present and future            I watched a lot of documentaries this year on Channel 2.            I like Channel 2 because it broadcasts/shows some of my favorite TV programs.            I used to watch TV a lot, but now I don't. I don't have much time to watch TV.            What is the difference between a TV series and a TV documentary?            — A television series can be either fictional or factual.            — A documentary is a program which provides only factual information.            — I've heard a lot about the new TV show on Channel 3.            — A new TV show is going to start on Channel 2.            What is your plan tonight?            — I don't know, maybe I will watch an animation on TV. Expressing reasons of an action            I love cartoon channels because they are fun. 36 Discovering the Space	Expressing opinions and facts                      The book that I bought yesterday is about space discoveries.                      New studies were published on the Curious Space magazine.                      Although scientists observe the Mars clearly, there are still a lot of things to learn about it.                      Due to high technology, we can easily communicate with astronauts in the space.                      Unless countries support space travels, astronauts cannot be sent to Mars. It was such a great discovery that people were shocked by the news. Making comments about opinions about actions and events                      I am interested in studying Physics.
